Green laser technology

Over what distance a laser is visible to the eye depends on the colour or wavelength of the laser beam. This has to do with the physiology of the human eye – green appears brighter to us than red. Depending on the ambient light conditions, therefore, green lasers are many times more visible than red ones – and indeed indoors, up to 12 times more.

Unlike red lasers, green laser light can only be generated indirectly. This limits working temperature such that green lasers are darker outside a temperature range of 0 – 40° C or 0 – 50° C. Energy consumption is also greater, this reduces battery operating time.

Quadrum Green

NEW

Fully automatic rotary laser with green laser technology

- With additional red plumb laser
- 5° self-levelling range, precision 1 mm / 10 m
- Laser modes: spot, scan, rotary and hand receiver mode
- All functions can be controlled remotely.
- Laser receiver range up to 200 m radius with optional SensoLite 310 laser receiver
- Green laser technology with 0° C - 40° C temperature range

Inclusive: Quadrum Green, universal mount, remote control, charger, rechargeable battery, battery holder, carrying case, battery

Revolution Green

Robust, fully automatic rotary laser with green laser technology

- 4° self-levelling range, precision 1 mm / 10 m
- Laser modes: spot, scan, rotary and hand receiver mode
- Single-slope function for manual tilt of an axis in automatic operation, even if ADS tilt is active.
- All functions can be controlled remotely using the Commander 50.
- Laser receiver range up to 200 m radius with optional SensoLite 310 laser receiver
- Green laser technology with 0° C - 45° C temperature range

Inclusive: Revolution Green, Commander 50, charger, rechargeable battery, battery holder, carrying case, battery
